

"NEW POLITICS" CANDIDATES

Your support for the National Conference for New Politics will aid the campaigns of viable and promising candidates and organizing efforts, such as those listed below.

CANDIDATE	PARTY	STATE	CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT
Norman Balabanian	Liberal & Independent	New York	34 th
Jerome Balter	Liberal	New York	37 th
George Brown, Jr.	Democrat	California	29 th *
Philip Burton	Democrat	California	5 th *
Sheldon Clark	Democrat	Ohio	23 rd
John Conyers	Democrat	Michigan	1 st *
Robert Cook	Independent	Connecticut	3 rd
Joseph Craven	Independent	Delaware	Congressman at Large
John Dow	Democrat	New York	27 th *
Donald Edwards	Democrat	California	9 th *
Donald Feder	Liberal & Independent	New York	36 th
Edith Green	Democrat	Oregon	2 nd *
Robert Kastenmeier	Democrat	Wisconsin	2 nd *
Eric Lindbloom	Independent	New York	28 th
Thomas Maynard	Independent	Maine	1 st
Stephen Minot	Independent	Connecticut	6 th
Charles Porter	Democrat	Oregon	4 th
William F. Ryan	Democrat	New York	20 th *
Lawrence Sherman	Democrat	California	28 th
erry Swisher	Independent	Idaho	1 st
Charles Tsapatsaris	Democrat	Massachusetts	5 th
Jerome Wilson	Democrat	New York	17 th
Fred Harris	Independent	Connecticut	State Assembly
les County	Independent	Alabama	Local Offices
Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party	Independent	Mississippi	Organizing Effort
New Jersey New Politics Convention	Independent	New Jersey	Organizing Effort

Please send your contribution now so that we may elect men of conscience and courage, such as these, to the halls of Congress.

* NCUMBENT

NATIONAL CONFERENCE FOR NEW POLITICS

250 WEST 57th STREET, NEW YORK, N.Y. 10019, TELEPHONE: (212) 265-5626

Dear Friend:

The November elections pose a test of confidence in Lyndon Johnson. Every vote cast for an opponent of the war in Viet Nam is a vote against the belligerent foreign policy of the Johnson administration and the deceptions with which it has undermined democratic institutions.

In Congressional districts around the country, a grass roots movement for peace is challenging the destructive consensus of the cold war; in many of these, electoral victory can now transform dissent into real political power.

Almost alone in Washington, a handful of Senators and Congressmen has been seeking to put the issues of this war before the people. They must be joined by others on all levels of government and throughout the country. This will not happen unless Americans care deeply enough to support "new politics" candidates against the "old politics" of military intervention abroad and racial and economic injustice at home.

The National Conference for New Politics is assisting issues-oriented liberals, peace and civil rights activists and anti-poverty organizations who are striving to win elections. It is a co-operative effort to provide financial, research and human resources to those candidacies and constituencies speaking clearly for peace and a full scale assault on the root causes of poverty. It is now abundantly clear that the cost of the war has doomed hopes of any meaningful attack on our slums and ghettos. We can no longer be satisfied with politicians who whisper sentiments for peace in private that they fear to utter in public.

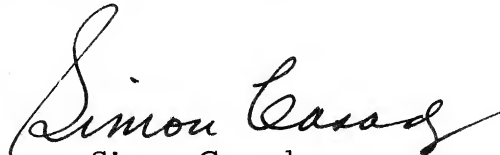

In recent months the Conference has contributed large sums of money and services to candidates in Alabama and Mississippi, New York and California and elsewhere across the nation. Particularly disheartening, however, were those close contests in which a few thousand dollars might have meant the difference between defeat and victory.

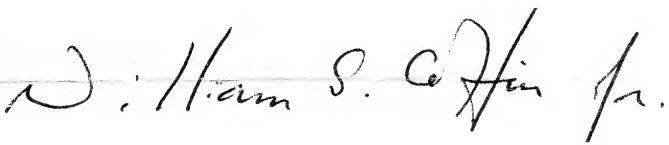

This time we want to make sure that pliant supporters of Lyndon Johnson's war do not go to Congress because the "new politics" of peace is short of funds. Moreover, we are convinced that growing numbers of Americans see the need to continue the efforts of political organization and education beyond the November elections, if our country is to turn back to the ways of peace and fulfill the long delayed promise of equality for all its citizens.

This is our opportunity to transform dissent into real political power. Send a contribution today to help elect public officials of conscience and courage who will not be manipulated into silence.

Please! Make your check payable to NCNP and mail it now in the enclosed reply envelope.

National Conference for New Politics

Julian Bond Simon Casady
National Co-Chairmen

Benjamin Spock, M.D. The Rev. William Sloane Coffin, Jr.
Pediatrician Chaplain, Yale University

Members NCNP National Board